Crawling and writing beneath the skin
They burrow and spawn inside the body
Thousands of larvae inhabit intestines
Amidst the warmth of blood they hatch
Slowly devouring their way to the surface
Eating away at internal organs
Insects burst from egg-filled systs
Ripping through every opening
Begin the feast
Bones stripped from muscle tissue
Honeycombed viscera deteriorates
Crawling and writing beneath the skin
They burrow and spawn inside the body
Thousands of larvae inhabit intestines
Amidst the warmth of blood they hatch
Slowly devouring their way to the surface
Eating away at internal organs
Insects burst from egg-filled systs
As they gnaw through every opening
Infestation, harvest the human Colonization, tunneling, nesting within Excoriation, obsessively digging them out
Extermination of the host
