The line is being drawn through my heart
And we're conceiving fires through our thoughts
And you're just like me
And You're just like me
This is everything I wanted to tell you
I'm still in love with everything about you
And I feel the wreckage from everything you do
And I'm tired of still waiting...

If I told you the truth now
Would you still leave and take my heart?
And I still feel ugly. You're ugly just like me
When I show you the truth now would you still leave?
Will you ever change? But I still feel empty
Will I always lose this game?

This is everything I've wanted to show you
I'm no longer scared of anything about you
I lived through the damage of the heart you took from me
And I'm tired of still wanting

If I told you the truth now
Would you still leave and take my heart?
And I still feel ugly. You're ugly just like me
When I show you the truth now would you still leave?
Will you ever change? But I still feel empty
Will I always lose this game?
