I see you in bed again
So worthy of being hated
You're dreaming all this time
You've torn out my heart again

So easy to be misled
For thinking this was right
We've done this many times
No more, fuck off, take it, there is no God

We would've engaged by now
There is no God, only me

In serving out your life you will see light
You see the martyr and it's harder
So you fallout into grace

No room for the tears again
You suffer, you've been mistreated
In my eyes you're a creature
You're tasting the limes again

Misery will follow
Too late for feeling sorry

In serving out your life you will see light
You see the martyr and it's harder
So you fallout into grace

I've got one simple question
How many times will this cloud fall?
Until there's no reason

Follow me out
You try to swallow

In serving out your life you will see light
You see the martyr and it's harder
So you fallout into grace

It's your Christ again
Is your Christ a friend?

Follow no more

There is no reasoning behind this
All the suffering keeps me stumbling
There is no reason behind this
For all this pain that's still around

Pain that's still around
There is no God, only me
