As I lie awake in the other room
I could probably stay awake till noon time
So frustrating knowing what could be
What's even worse is she used to belong to me

As I toss and turn, there's nothing I can do

But if she couldn't sleep maybe we could make up
But I just can't seem to wake her up this time
Oh, no if she couldn't sleep

I know she'd tell herself that she might need
A little time to stop her heart from bleeding
So like me, I wish she couldn't sleep

Eight A.M. and she's not at home
Stayed out all night wonder if she's all alone
Or with someone new, she won't even call
To ease my mind just to help me break the fall

Now I'm feeling all the things I put her through

If she couldn't sleep maybe we could make up
But I just can't seem to wake her up this time
Oh, no if she couldn't sleep

I know she'd tell herself that she might need
A little time to stop her heart from bleeding
So like me, but I guess she's doing fine
Wonder if she knows she's on my mind

But if she couldn't sleep maybe we could make up
But I just can't seem to wake her up this time
Oh, no if she couldn't sleep

I know she'd tell herself that she might need
A little time to stop her heart from bleeding
So like me, if she couldn't sleep like me
If she couldn't sleep, like me
