Sometimes when things go wrong
We try to understand
Why the world stops turning
And takes away the things we planned
And sometimes we walk alone
No one appears to care
Sometimes we long for someone
To be the answer to every prayer

When through the mist of my tears I saw you
I knew I'd waited for you
To find all the dreams that lost their way

Who knows if we will win
God knows we won't give in
There is no yesterday now
There's just today now
To find my way with you

Some say that miracles never happen
But now I know they happen
When love comes along to show the way

Who knows if we will win
God knows we won't give in
There is no yesterday now
There's just today now
To find my way
With you
