And I woke up early this morning and I went to the 5
and dime

I saw this pretty young lady that was real, real fine

I tapped her on the shoulder and said, "Mmm, mmm, excuse me, ma'am"

She pulled down her pants and said, "Splack these hands"

Whoa!oh!oh!oh!oh!

Sally "That Girl"

Whoa!oh!oh!oh!oh!

Sally, whew, "That Girl"

So we walked her to her house, as she opened up the door

It was heart-shaped bed in the middle of the floor

She pushed me on the bed and this you can bet

In between her legs was real, real wet

So I grabbed her by her thighs and I moved up truly

She jumped off the bed and said, "Don't touch my booty"

"Don't touch my booty 'cause I won't touch you"

"Don't touch my booty 'cause it's not the thing to do"

Whoa!oh!oh!oh!oh!

Sally, whew, "That Girl"

Whoa!oh!oh!oh!oh!

Sally, whew, "That Girl"

So we bailed out her house just to get something to eat

We saw her friend named Patty walkin' down the street

Patty turned around as we yelled out her name

She dropped to her knee and began to sing

Whoa!oh!oh!oh!oh!

Sally, whew, "That Girl"

Whoa!oh!oh!oh!oh!

Sally, whew, "That Girl"

Sally is a girl that likes to play

And if you want some lovin' Sally is okay

She has a different fellow every day of the week
Two or maybe three just to make it sweet
Sally wants a man she can call her own
And sixty-seven hundred she can call on the phone
Sally's never tired and she's never alone
All Sally wants is a fellow with a room

Whoa! oh! oh! oh!
Sally, whew, "That Girl"
Whoa! oh! oh! oh!
Sally, whew, "That Girl"
