Baby black with the spider hands
A heart attack when I felt the fingers land
She broke my heart with her spider hands
She wove a web that I never knew was there

I took it all for granted
She took it all away
I took it all for granted
But hey I say

It's a work-a-day day

She broke my heart with her spider hands
She wove a web that I never knew was there
Baby black with the spider hands
A heart attack when I felt the fingers land

I took it all for granted
She took it all away
I took it all for granted
But hey I say

It's a work-a-day day

I took it all for granted
She took it all away
I took it all for granted
But hey I say

It's a work-a-day day
