Empty parking lot, half a cigarette
I got it off the ground so it's a little wet
I'm on the south side walking sideways
I got too drunk again

It's a cold night, kinda late this year
Plans made, the cops are gone and we're outta here
But I need to catch my breath 'cause its 3 a.m.
And I still miss someone

This is the last last time, I beg the sun to shine
Addicted to a memory and it's killing me
This is the last last time

I should hide at home but I can't drive

Everybody's calling me to see if I'm alive
They say they've got a friend that I need to meet
And she's never heard of you

This is the last last time, I beg the sun to shine
Addicted to a memory and it's killing me

This is the last last time, I beg the sun to shine
Addicted to a memory and it's killing me

This is the last last time, I try to change your mind
I'm addicted to the misery and it's killing me
Yeah, it's killing me
You all start killing me
