I've got a photo from a long time ago

Hold it in your pocket

Hold it in your pocket

I've got a ring that my grandmother gave to me

Wear it on your finger

Wear it on your finger

I've got a letter that's full of our secrets

The last one you sent to me

The last one you sent to me, oh

What shall I do with a life turned to memory?

I tried to forget you

I tried to forget you

Where shall I go when I wake from a dream of you?

I tried to forget you

I tried to forget you

I still see you

I still see you

I still see you

I turn in my sleep and I see you beside me

It's your imagination

It's your imagination

I go to the places we went to together

Find another country

Find another country

I turn in my sleep and I see you beside me

It's your imagination

It's your imagination

I want to go on but it's another day without you

I tried to forget you

I tried to forget you

I still see you

I still see you

I still see you...
