

Electric Light Orchestra "Secret Messages"

Visit "Secret Messages" on MotoLyrics.com

A moving stream of information
That is floating on the wind, the secrets never end
And now they call, they sing, they play
They dance for you from out of the blue, what can you do?

The secret messages are calling to me endlessly
They call to me across the air
The messages across the atmosphere
They whisper in your ear, they're calling everywhere

Where words cascade like rainbows tumbling from the sky
Then I'll be there, I'll be there
When messages will call to you their secrets all around
Without a sound, they're all around

The secret messages are calling to me endlessly
They call to me across the air
The messages across the atmosphere
They whisper in your ear, they're calling everywhere
They're calling everywhere

Those secret messages that spill into the air
From far away, so far away
A flowing river of illusion running with confusion Never gone, it goes on and on

The secret messages are calling to me endlessly
They call to me across the air
The messages across the atmosphere
They whisper in your ear, they're calling everywhere

The messages across the atmosphere
They whisper in your ear

The secret messages are calling to me endlessly
The messages across the atmosphere
They whisper in your ear

