There's a silence in the city
There's nobody around
And everyone that we knew
Moved to higher ground

There's a shadow hanging overhead
It lingers there alone
Changing all we ever knew
The changes start to show

There's a sorrow about to fall
There's a sorrow about to fall

There's a new sound in the wires
And ears are to the ground
And everything that once was ours
Has slowly turned around

Something happened to the seasons
Started falling with the rain
And something changed forever
We gotta find a way

There's a sorrow about to fall
There's a sorrow about to fall

There's people in the photographs
But they all had to run
They went away to somewhere
Beyond the setting sun

'Cause there's a sorrow about to fall
There's a sorrow about to fall
Yeah, there's a sorrow about to fall
Well, there's a sorrow about to fall

Sorrow about to fall
Fall, fall, fall
Sorrow about to fall
Sorrow about to fall
Sorrow about to fall
