A lonely soul on an empty street
Standing alone with frozen feet
A car drives up, a window goes down
She looks at a stranger with a smile on her face
She knows what he wants, he knows what she is
There's no need to talk, just a silent kiss
The car drives away, the window goes up
She starts to please the man beside her
Skillful hands all over his body
Trying to forget while she's going her work
The lonely soul now controlled by a stranger
The little girl doesn't know she's in danger
CHORUS
A cheap girl in a modern world
A cheap girl in a modern world
She's a cheap girl in a modern world
With hopefull dreams in a world where no-one cares
After a while the man starts to beat her
She tries to get out, but she's caught inside
It doesn't take long before it is over
And another name is written in blood
She was a little girl with dreams made of pure gold
Little girl just fifteen years old
A cheap girl in a modern world
She's a cheap girl in a modern world
With hopefull dreams in a world where no-one cares
