I gave you freedom, don't hand me your pain
A loversheart burning, now has vanished in the flames
Our kind of love was to strange to comprehend It's beauty as fragile as circles in the sand

Maybe one morning comes, and I can see it clearly in the sky Shining in my eyes

Your soul is a temple, all secrets retained and why share your feelings when you have the world to blame Surrounded by water, your problems are oh so deep You're swimming a lifetime, but there ain't no land to see

Maybe one morning comes
and you can see it clearly in the sky
Shining in your eyes

[Chorus]

I can see, but can you see
I can hear reality, knocking upon my door Can't take it anymore, words left unspoken, not to return

The mind is a weapon, a way to suppress
But how can I blame you, for you had no place to crash Keep hope for the future and hold the strawend tight Defeat isn't final when there's still a way to fight

And then the morning comes
and you can see it clearly in the sky
Shining in your eyes

[Chorus]
