"A Song"

More than motion, more than hope
More than love unties my rope
Each breath a fight when morning calls
More than love can feel my falls

So calculate each feeble limb
Stand by me through all my sin
Exceed my needs when I've done wrong
The battles bleed into, bleed into a single song

A song
A song
A song
A song

Come bind the light of two
Inside of me and you

Nights have fallen long before
On those nights I've hit the floor
Into the night my silence screams
And calm is taken as it seems

But known to me a soul who knows
Power of these darkened blows
Standing in my mirrored world
The battles bleed into, bleed into a single song

A song
A song
A song
A song

Come bind the light of two
Inside of me and you

I want to see through your eyes sometimes
So that I won't mind when you're wrong sometimes
I want to see through your eyes sometimes
So that I won't mind when you're wrong sometimes

I'm wrong sometimes

I'm wrong sometimes

Come bind the light of two
Inside of me and you
