I wonder why when I was young
Everyone seemed like
They had a smile
Now it seems like it's the opposite

And I wonder, I remember lying in my bed
Angry that I had to go to sleep
Now sleep is much too precious to find
Makes me wonder why

When waking up feels like a dream
What happened between now and then?
When waking up feels like a dream
What happened between now and then?

Somewhere between now and then
My world's have turned around
What happened between now and then?
It makes me wonder

Somewhere between now and then
My world's have turn around
What happened between now and then?

I always had to find a cure
To save me from my life of boredom
And now it's like there's never any time
To do anything

Today I tried to make my mind
Follow after practicality
People can conveniently forget
That I'm growing up

When growing up seems so unreal
What happened between now and then?
When growing up seems so unreal
What happened between now and then?

Somewhere between now and then
My world's have turned around
What happened between now and then?

It makes me wonder

Somewhere between now and then
My world's have turn around
What happened between now and then?

Somewhere between now and then
My world's have turned around
What happened between now and then?
It makes me wonder

Somewhere between now and then
My world's have turn around
What happened between now and then?
