"My Darkest Night"

In all honesty now I must confess
That I have wished that you ran away
Never looking back

All that flows through your veins
Causes me to break
Still you mistake it for fear
Yet in all you do

It strengthens you
And you, yeah, I feel you in my sleep
And you, I think of you what else could I do
And you, yeah, I feel you in my sleep
And you, you know it's true, I love you

This is the one time
That laughter breaks me down
In darker nights I imagine
That I had played the smarter part

Climbing the stairs
I wish I gathered it all up close to me
This may need cover-up
Still I wear what few see fair

You are queens to me
You are queens to me
