this one reminds me of a lesson i learned when i was younger.
kinda like a dream but i think i had more control.
kind of like falling from the sky or maybe the sky was falling on me.
i'm just glad i woke up.
something of a dream but too much of it's real,
yeah, too much of it's always real.
at least that's the way it seems.
baby i can give you more.
baby just what were you looking for.
when i said i would, i said i would be back for more.
when i said i would, i said i would, i said i would.
i yawned and it seemed that the sweetest one of all fell into my mouth.

kinda like a dream but i just sleep better to you.
so when the owner of my pen takes me down past these city lights.
i'm just glad i woke up.
knowing what angels wish to be mortal for,
i even know what people they look to heaven for.
something of a dream, but i just feel you.
i feel you so much.
do i believe you, do i believe you.
