We are, we are set on a mountain growing up
Look around
We are, we are set on a mountain growing up

You mailed away all your troubles just today
You're open wide and catch the sweetest falling Keep running for something greater, something more
You made it new and sing a song tuned to you

We are, we are set on a mountain growing up
Look around

And you shut the door, lay yourself on the floor That's how you know, that's when you know that you're home
When you shut the door and lay yourself on the floor
That's how you know, that's when you know that you're
home

We are, we are set on a mountain growing up
Look around

On clouded nights, you hope with all your might In fragile wings to carry your desire
Still you believe on the stars and what you see
And you believe, you're on the brink of something

And you shut the door and lay yourself on the floor
That's how you know, that's when you know that you're
home
And you shut the door and lay yourself on the floor
That's how you know, that's when you know that you're
home

And you shut the door and lay yourself on the floor
That's how you know, that's when you know that you're
home
And you shut the door and lay yourself on the floor
That's how you know, that's when you're finally home
