Hear the rhythmic crashing of the waves - the raging ocean breathes

A crystal intelligence, the fiddle of the king of sleep

Lured by it's bewitching song, we cluster unto it's shores

To bathe in the primordial womb, the blood of the earth

Within this ancient vast abyss, the largest creatures dwell

Mantas, whales and timeless sharks, fabled kraken and plesiosaurs

The hurricane moon rises, whipping the frenzied tides Winds of iron, mariners brace against the coming storm

Beneath the water, a vivid cascade of boundless solar light

True rapture of the deep

Entranced by parallel streaks of white foam

Follow the unknown path of the Bimini Road

From profoundest heights plunge into it's depths

Even brilliant Atlantis sank as a stone

Ghosts of submerged vessels in the salty haze

Those who dared to challenge this indomitable entity

For as gulls now rest upon it's calm surface

Even the most titanic ships unsinkable were swallowed whole
