

Eleventeen "Different World"

Visit "Different World" on MotoLyrics.com

When I look into your eyes,
I do not see support
This chapter in my life seems like the pages tore
And I can see you waiting,
For me to screw up
But if you look into her eyes you will see love

I know that day will come,
When you will have to choose
So find a place inside your heart,
And keep me there

I know that we live in a different world
Than you live in,
We're in a different world than you live in,
We're in a different world than you live in.

And I can see you waiting,
For me to screw up
But if you look into her eyes you will see love
I know that day will come,
When you will have to choose
So find a place inside your heart,
And keep me there

I know that we live in a different world
Than you live in,
We're in a different world than you live in,
We're in a different world than you live in.

You say that it's not love,
You say that it's not love,
You say that its' not love,
You say that it's not love,
And it's not love
And it's not love
And it's not love
And it's not love

It's not love

