Light me on fire again with the words you use from a friend

I won't say the things I don't like to say to you

I won't do the things I don't like to do with you

Light me on fire again take a breath be happy don't pretend as I say the things I like to say to you as I do the things I don't always dreamed to do with you

As you watch me drown take my life support away

Leave me on the ground

With the sun to kiss my face

You came to me at the worst time and made the best time of my life

Unprepared I fall over every moment made

So speak to me silently blow my mind away and I promise not to be so careless

And fall over every word you say I am waiting on your next line

To come over me and take control I am waiting run over me

And if I fall asleep at the wheel will you take control of me
