Why not yesterday instant replay

There I go again without having anything to say

I don't lie everything I said to you was true

But still just words trying to convince myself of my position on the same level as you

Shut your eyes

Cover your ears

You can't see my eyes

Because my mouth is too wide open

When my mouth starts talking about everything I have and what I can bring

That is the proof for you that I have nothing
