She's got a bumper like a billboard
Covered in stickers of her favorite bands She's got a hand full of records that she turns to
When she needs to land
She's a Saturday night parade through the streets
That all eyes come to see including me

She carries memories around like souvenirs down in her pockets
She should have let some go by now but can't seem to drop it
Says forgiveness ain't nothing but a lifeless tire on the shoulder of her soul
That never rolls

Chorus:
For as much as she stumbled she's runnin'
For as much as she runs she's still here
Always hoping to find something quicker than heaven
To make the damage of her days disappear
Just like Guinever
Just like Guinever

She don't hold on to nothin' new for very long
Yeah she writes you in as just one more tale
And then your gone
'Cause she once fell hard 'cause she dropped her guard
And no one gets to stay it's just too late

Repeat Chorus

For as much as she stumbled she's runnin'
For as much as she runs she's still here

For as much as she stumbles she's runnin'
For as much as she runs she's still here
Always hoping to find something quicker than heaven
To make the damage of her days disappear
Just like Guinever
Just like Guinever

Lean into me Guinever
Be mine tonight Guinever
