Between heaven and hell, the devil in me burned another branch on the family tree Take the bottle from my hand, the whiskey off my breath
Tell me is there really still anything left There's a limit to living on God's green earth, and I'm still tryin' to figure what that's worth Not makin' many choices I'm just makin' mistakes, livin' in a world where the sinners are our saints

How can I win when the battle keeps changing, should I just lay down my gun Surrender to the demons I'm facing, do I fight or do I run
This is the moment I finally take a stand and win this war on a desperate man

Been prayin' to God to let me hear his voice, take me now if that's his choice Who's it gonna be that makes me realize, there are days that I don't even wanna open my eyes

How can I win when the battle keeps changing, should I
just lay down my gun
Surrender to the demons I'm facing, do I fight or do I
run
This is the moment I finally take a stand and win this
war on a desperate man

How can I win when the battle keeps changing, should I
just lay down my gun
Surrender to the demons I'm facing, do I fight or do I
run
This is the moment I finally take a stand and win this
war on a desperate man
On a desperate man
