What do you take me for a joke?
What do you take me for?

You were tuned into a different station at the time,
A different signal sending, a little bit less popular,
Alone and un-expecting we didn't hear the newsflash
When it said the world was ending
(Selling yourself a lie)
Mark it down and sell it to you for a better price
It doesn't matter if we were dying
(Selling yourself a lie)
And you were sitting out oblivious to all of this
A victim to their secrets of knowing it was just a
Sham the world was never ending.
The nightmare of a lifetime
It was just a storytelling
(Selling yourself a lie)
