(feat. Corrado Rustici)

Pouring light above our bed (I) dance the fire-dance we made up with no fear, shake your tears shake them off your skin...

as I step outside your gate you're the freezing star that won't shine with no sky, like the secret blue that you hold inside...

wait till night... wait until light...

until the day will come alive among our rage and dust

now the sun dies in your arms and the heat undoes its own self without sin, by your side... with water-tongue I pray wait till when... then till then...

until the rain will flow inside and paint our names on rust until the day we'll shine a light

and wash our names of rust until the day we'll turn into light until all rage is dust
