My whole life is staring
Stares at me from a place
Where you're a master of your guidance
The reflower of the dawn age
If there's a prize for lucky moments
Hope I won a time reload
What's the worth of measure chances
Mine is set ahead to blow
You need to keep moving
As long as you keep moving down
You wait to stab an arrow and overcome
You dream to waste your life, dream
To loose your mind
But then you wait
You dream to set alight, dream to
Loose your mind
But then you wait
Now, you realize how paltriness
Remains and how a stride moves
Slowly while you run
I'm caged in bad, lost bad and odd times
Moving, going down
Shuffling inside loss time
Willing to ease the flight
You dream to waste your life, dream
To loose your mind
But then you wait
You dream to set alight, dream to
Loose your mind
But then you wait
I dare an open smile, reload the
Charming spy
But then you wait
You dream to waste your life, dream
To set a alight
But then you wait
