Lockjaw standing on his own low ball landing
Come on, mistah reprimanding
Why you so understanding?
Oh, she lights the wind on fire in her way

No apologies, no luck tonight
Filtered eyes look on from every side
I wish this could be your big night, Sandy!

Watch out for lightning
Sandy waiting on her landing
She was always so demanding
Her voice was so commanding

Say, you're looking like a wipe out
You do this every night out
You wait, I'm thinking
I've got it, you're sinking

And everyday it seems
There's a blackout on your city block
Charming once but twice, I'm gone
And I feel like I was there all alone

You're so white, you think
You're nothing like me, are you?
You wanted new conditions
Base it all on intuition

Play it just like you're Buddha
Nothing hurts you 'less it needs to
Naked like a baby
Don't look like you hate it
