"So Still"

Here I am, no longer on my own
Going through things, makes me a little stronger
Wiser than before, yes I am
Older plans still feel young

I don't wanna hide, I just wanna lie here a little more
I don't want to move from this place
I don't want to fight, I just want lie here with you Lie so still

Everything might change when you go away
So we have to use our songs melodies
And here we are much further then we were before Moving on will only make us a little stronger

I don't want to fight, I just want to lie here a little more
I don't want to move unless I have to
I dont want to hide. I just want to lie here with you
I don't wanna move, just wanna lie here so still Lie here so still

Never my change
But I'm willing to take the risk again
Never my change
And now I'm willing to take the risk again, and again, and again
