

Elle Madison "Coming Home"

Visit "Coming Home" on MotoLyrics.com

Some times it takes Silence to break
The walls we have between us
Balanced on the edge
I look down
I'm scared
Your open promise to catch me if I fall
But what if this space between us
Threatens to take me down
I'm too afraid to jump the distance now

Chorus: Let me tell you know
That you're feeling pretty far
But whatever way you go gonna always be there
Listen from the start to the words I have to say
Cause you'll never have to guess if I'm gonna be there

Carry me away in this life there's so much sorrow
No I can't forget the way when we touch your my tomorrow
In My sleepless night your promise echose hallow
Every family portrait lies an emotion I can't borrow Hey Mr. Clock won't you please tell me your secrets
Can I take both of your hands and turn back time
Clouded in a fog all these memories have drifted Through the river reminiscing and I'm lost without your love

Let me tell you know
That you're feeling pretty far
But whatever way you go gonna always be there
Listen from the start to the words I have to say
Cause you'll never have to guess if I'm gonna be there

Visit Elle Madison page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.