You don't mind your own bruise
You don't mind your own bruise

In the dim light you pray
You look up at the moon
Cause you hope that someday it will save you
When did emotions give in
When did you perceive from outside
You watch the shadow come

You don't mind your own bruise
You don't mind your own bruise

You took your sentence and took it to the streets
You watch the shadow come
To many questions arise to you
When you try and deal you despise
In this world in which you lie
Out of the place the dreams your eyes
It can't erase
In this journey you keep on crawling
Beyond your reach
And it's falling
Down, down, down on you
You are what you are

You don't mind your own bruise
You don't mind your own bruise
Mind you own
Mind you own
You still don't mind your own
Mind your own
You don't mind your own bruise
