Wake up, stand up
I know, but for what
One thing I crave
A weekend without computer games
Pull the trigger and kill the zombies
Sorry, I'm done

So many things I have let go
No doubt I want to do something else
I need to find something before I'm bored of
everything
So many things I left undone
No doubt I want to be someone else
I need to find something before I'm bored of
everything

Voicemail is full
I know she calls me at home
How much is my car
And how much is my gift
Pull the trigger, kill the zombies
Sorry, I'm done

So many things I have let go
No doubt I want to do something else
I need to find something before I'm bored of
everything
So many things I left undone
No doubt I want to be someone else
I need to find something before I'm bored of
everything

I still can believe when you say it's not true
I still can believe when you say it's not too late
I still can believe when you say it's not real
I still can believe when you say I'm not too late

So many things I have let go
No doubt I want to do something else
I need to find something before I'm bored of
everything
So many things I left undone

No doubt I want to be someone else
I need to find something before I'm bored of
everything
