I wonder what is the flower's name
I just remember faint yellow
"It suits the little window"
That's what you said when you gave me that

I don't want to leave you alone
But someone is calling me somewhere
It's not your fault

Just for one second, one moment, or just one glance
Please show me your smile
We got to know each others so much
And the flower saw us every single day

I can't recall my name
I just remember your smile
Before I forget you
Please tell me the name of the flower

It's not anyone's fault

Everyone understands it and even I do
It's not your fault

Just for one second, one moment, or just one glance
Please show me your smile
We got to know each others so much
And the flower saw us every single day

We could go anywhere in one moment
We could do everything together
I always thought nothing is going to change at all
Kimi mo boku mo Ano hana de sae mo

Just for one year, one month, one day
Take my place
Help her smile with someone else
Look after her, flower
