You were the best idea i had all year but you wouldn't believe me if you tried.
you were the last girl after a long night out, i was the first missed after a long flight back.
I couldn't believe my eyes, i had finally found some light in a dark world that doesn't like love.

If i was up in space hanging out with the stars
I'd look for the brightest one and know exactly where you are tonight without me by your side.

you were the first in line to give me a sweetheart line, you had the nicest smile and he crossed his hands when he was nervous but i had a bigger heart, i've had more room for you from the start and you cant believe your bones you had finally found some light in a dark world that doesn't like love.

If i was up in space hanging out with the stars
I'd look for the brightest one and know exactly where you are
tonight without me by your side.
I want to radiate like you do and make others jealous of everything i do.
for you i will!

you pressed your lips against my lips and the magazines read we engaged in a kiss that looked more like a movie romantic and moving. i know you know your a gorgeous girl and you dont need me to tell you that but ill do what i can until you finally crack a smile.

We finally spent the summer waiting for the sunset, watching it together.
This is as good as love gets when im by your side!

If i was up in space hanging out with the stars

I'd look for the brightest one and know exactly where you are
tonight without me by your side.
I want to radiate like you do and make others jealous of everything i do.
for you i will!

(i cant seem to convey how i feel in the perfect way, it's not like we're still that young)
