I'm a one man line at the twenty four hour store
I'm in a town that reminds me of my home town streets
I roamed the Isles a thousand miles from what I was looking for
A familiar face that would smile at me sweetly

Take me down to where I'm whole
Where everybody knows me deep as a soul can go
Take me down, I've gotta know
Did you really know me deeply as a soul can go?

We drove up the canyon to watch the stars fall down Watch them turn off the lights on the church down on second street
There's Jack's old man, he's still the only cop in town
He's patrolling the sidewalk on the graveyard beat

Take me down to where I'm whole
Where everybody knows me deep as a soul can go
Take me down, I've gotta know
Did you really know me deeply as the soul can go?
Deep as a soul can go, hey

And everybody needs a place to call home
A roof over head, a bed for dreams of their own I've never been so lonely and when I told you I was leaving
This time I'm really leaving, hey hey

Take me down to where I'm whole
Where everybody knows me deep as a soul can go
If you take me down, I've gotta know
Does anybody know me deeply as a soul can go?
