That dream, That dream I'm remembering
The one With your arms out stretched and holding on to me

I knew that love would find a way here
I knew that love would find it's

Way here to us and through the night
And in your arms that hold me tight
Still your not sure

Your face pressed against the windowpane
Watching the wind's direction change
Knowing your heart feels the same

I knew that love would find a way here
I knew that love would find it's

Way here to us and through the night
And in your arms that hold me tight
Still your not sure
And now I don't even have a doubt cause I know you can live without anyone around

Let your guard down
And all the love you've found
Will come right through to you, and find
