

Elsa

"Body And Heart"

Visit "Body And Heart" on MotoLyrics.com

Things are not going so well
Running out of stuff to sell
Now the car's been towed away
Your hair is turning grey
And your children gone astray
Running naked in the rain
If you want to keep your wife
You'd better let me go
Please don't kiss me anymore
Even when the lights are low
How you loved all of me
With your body and your heart
You were young, you were free
We would drive down to the coast
Just to dive in the sea
But now it's not the same
You put your shirt on inside out
You whisper where you use to shout
New idea in your head
Too much time spent in your bed
And the children that you fed
Haven't heard a word you said
If you want to keep your wife
You better let me go
Please don't kiss me anymore
Even when the lights are low
You would say
That we don't have a thing to hide
As you looked down on my breasts
Held your eyes open wide
We would steal ourselves a boat
We would get up at dawn
And go no matter where
You would say
That we don't have a thing to hide
As you looked down on my breasts
Held your eyes open wide
We would steal ourselves a boat
We would get up at dawn
And go no matter where

