Fade away it's all the same cold against the rain
Traces of your memory lights in blue green symmetry
All around we're falling down lost inside desire
Stripped away all the pain dreams melt into fire

Watch my heart break in the reflection of your eyes
The lights go to sleep and dream of you and I

Turn away I can feel it's not the same
It's just going down
You might say I don't believe it either way
This is all I found

All the lights going down in the city
All the lights going down
All the lights going down in the city
All the lights going down
Down...

Down...

Turn away I can feel it's not the same
It's just going down
You might say I don't believe it either way
This is all I found

All the lights going down in the city
All the lights going down
All the lights going down in the city
All the lights going down
Down...
