"Battle Cry Of 1,000 Men"

The battle killed a thousand men maybe even more
the river ran with gallant blood past bullet riddled shores
mothers wives and children wept over the stench of death the battle cry of a thousand men we would not soon forget

whoa oh whoa oh oh
whoa oh whoa oh oh

this village was a peaceful one at least one hundred years
but now we're building coffins for our fighters and our tears
mothers wives and children wept over the stench of death
the battle cry of a thousand men they would not soon

chorus
