

Ely Falls "Analemma"

Visit "Analemma" on MotoLyrics.com

The first waves
Came and they
Tried to rip you apart
And so our minds went to funnel form
Then fell away in the great storm
And all the sails we held were stung,
But sometimes, you find...

Maybe the world was wrong
I found your heart in every place but the setting sun
So don't close your eyes my love
For there's a million ways to see the stars

The waves are crashing over every beaten shore
The rain picks up a little more each day
And in the valley where the river used to bend
There's an overflow that can't be won
The northern lights are fading
Into a wind unfailing

(We were wrong but it's all we know)

(Oh, it's all, it's all we know
Tides as strong as hearts are bold)

(Maybe the world was wrong
I found your heart in every place but the setting sun
So don't close your eyes my love
For there's a million ways to see the stars)

Visit Ely Falls page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.