When the world hangs on like a cigarette from your mouth,
And the only time that I feel real,
Is when I'm drowning down at the bottom of the fucking sea

Let it go, let it fall,
Into the spaces in between your absolutes
Forever
Incinerate me, obliterate me,
Won't you dull my edge until I have no use
Forever

When you vex and collapse, with that unborn soft wax,
And when the cancer was eating you alive
You were spun out and bound at the wrists, just in time
Let it go, let it fall,
Into the spaces in between your absolutes
Forever
Suffocate me, annihilate me
While I chew my tongue and offer you this truce
Forever

Whatever you want, is fine with me

Let it go, let it fall,
Into the spaces in between your absolutes
Forever
Syndicate me, commemorate me
Won't you dull my edge until I have no use
Forever
