about your own dissatisfied you fall in war with your outer world a tremble and rage deep inside unfold an immense meanness of nature licentious hate cries for blood be sparked off by your fury chairched flesh the seed of evil thrive inside a slitting restlessness

frightened about your own thoughts you never dreamt to think that kind of way a sudden need for destruction torments your conscience with self reproaches deaf to outworld, dumb to the own awareness blind for all beauty, your life seems to be the only sin

dark conscience that resound of emotions plagues your brain, corroding your mind a crawling invincible violence which you don't want to relief this suffering went to extremes into an enraged soul terror if you can stand that fight your conscience'll be revenged in suicide
