I'd kill anything that flaps around your head, darling
We had so much, I don't know where it went God can strike me down if I'm wrong, I'll repent saying That happiness will get you in the end, darling

Some psychic gave me words, I've come to dread she said
That happiness would come to you again, oh yeah
Your fall will break, your splashing heart can mend, knowing
That happiness will get you in the end

And my mind is like a maze
And I know the way all around that maze
With you next to me
But I can't find my way out with you around, please stay

Those tear stained letters you returned unread saying
That happiness has come to you again, oh yes
And all good things must reach their rotten end, darling
But happiness will get you in the end

Oh, happiness will get you in the end
Oh, happiness will get you in the end, darling
