I told the Devil and the deep blue sea to hide
I thought that you were after them, I was right
But it's a picture I'll always keep in mind
Where you say I've never been even liked for anything truly mine

And you did it looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are

Love enters and leaves you through your eyes
You threw away the only thing that I liked
And now to tell ya that things will be alright
It never really seems that way, late at night

When you did it looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are

And now I know, that the world's not waiting
For you, nor for me
Now I know that the world gets heavy
Will change?

'Cause you did it looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are

Looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are
Looking as you are
Now you're gone, I stand on my own
