As water laps my feet
Sharks surround me I sleep
You smile and line up your army
But my enemies can't get near me

Because I claimed victory
That day now I'm calm
I have seen in your eyes
How much you suffer in the dark

Where shining stars light the heaven
We satellites hope to reach
And my black water reflects them for me

Come on let's make our move
They won't see a thing
That they can't see through

And shining stars light the heaven
We satellites hope to reach
And my black water reflects them for me for me

Where shining stars light the heaven
We satellites can't compete
And my black water reflects them for me

And redemption will pour
And crashes to the floor
And a million cold thoughts
Won't stop you feeling warm

Because the luck that you bring
Conquers all these things
