Someday, you're gonna see the way I see things
Break out the box they keep you sealed in
Someday, you find the real thing

Someday, you're gonna feel the isolation
'Cause no one wants you with them
Someday, I'm gonna bring you back
And you won't know how to act

The world you think is safe, is changing fast
And all the runaways, will run their last
If you turn away, you can't turn back
The time has come to make way

And you just don't matter too much to me
If you can't run, 'cause I will carry
You upon my back until you're safe
And you will feel the way I feel someday

Someday, you're gonna feel the way I'm feeling
But all the bad you think I'm suffering
Won't break, it only heals me

And you just don't matter too much to me
If you can't run, 'cause I will carry
You upon my back until you're safe
And you will feel the way I feel someday

For every stone you throw you'll carry
A million more and you'll be sorry
No one will escape who knows the way
And we will not sow as we reap someday

A light is gonna shine
On you and I
A light is gonna shine

And you just don't matter too much to me
If you can't run, 'cause I will carry
You upon my back until you're safe
And you will feel the way I feel someday

For every stone you throw you'll carry
A million more and you'll be sorry
No one will escape who knows the way
And we will not sow as we reap someday

Someday, you're gonna see the way I see things
Break out the box they keep you sealed in
Someday, we're gonna bring you back, yeah

Now, a light is gonna shine
On you and I
A light is gonna shine
Yeah, a light is gonna shine
