these are the words i will say this is the story ill tell when i speak your name you probly like it yourself thats wut i never could take you wanted me when you wanted me, and the rest was just a waste of your time ill say the words that you wont i thought you love me but you dont, you dont and now its to become free, if your hurting i cant see and your taking wuts left of me.

for wut its worth i believe,
every word that you said
so here is wut i will say with these last wasted breaths

take, take, take, back your promises and the sweet kisses that i thought were only for me.

to find myself at the end of these lines that you sell me, is tell me i would of always gave in but those late nights of phone calls, of whispering everything i ever want.

for wut its worth i believe,

and the sweet kisses that i thought were only for me.

you took my heart out of me, i thought you love me but you dont and you took my heart out of me, i waited for, you to answer why, but waitings not a reply

you wanted me when you wanted me (you wanted me)

for wut its worth i believe,
every word that you said

and the sweet kisses that i thought were only for me.
