A new life is starting over
I won't be back again
Hard times will soon be over
And I'm sure bad things in life will surrender

I knew what I was doing
I tried to be so strong
I made the right decision
When the only thing to do was surrender

I want to bring you into my new life babe
You will know if I'm worth it
But I don't need another reason for leaving
Another life could be a good thing

They said I was wrong
Believe now I'm true
Another life could be a good thing

I still remember all the bad times
Before my brand new life began
And looking forward to the good times
This is my brand new life

A new life is starting over
And even if I'm wrong
I made the right decision

Now I'm sure good things
In life will surround us

I want to bring you into my new life babe
Who will know if It's worth it
But I don't need another unreasonable fading
Another life could be a good thing

Who said I don 't mind
Another life could be a good thing

I still remember when I was younger
And you know where I belong

I still remember all the good times
This is my brand new life

I still remember all the bad times
Before my brand new life began
I still remember all the good times
This is my brand new life
