Now that we're worlds apart
I feel like a lesser man all balance outta control state of mind strange and vain good night sleep tight I can't get a shut eye my spirit dissappears like breath on a mirror

I need you more than you will ever know you've come to mean the world to me
I wonder if you're sleeping while I'm crying in my beer
we're worlds apart
I wish you were here

Same song different verse
I let you down again
all excuses useless I'm the one to blame a love's at stake
a life goes down the drain for a temporary fix

some go far beyond the pale

you've come to mean the world to me
I wonder if you're sleeping while I'm crying in my beer
we're worlds apart
I wish you were here

I shot poisoned frozen hung stabbed electrocuted
I burned my soul to the ground

you've come to mean the world to me
I wonder if you're sleeping while I'm crying in my beer
we're worlds apart
I wish you were here
