How do I save you from a fate so sweet
As being torn to pieces by a loving hand?
How do I save you from a voice so soft
As that which acquiesces to your each demand?
How do I look upon the eyes I love
And send them down this path? I know it isn't right
How do I make you realize, my love
That there is more to fear than strangers in the night?

How do I save you?
How do I set you free?
Behind the curtain waits a darker world
If I can't make you leave
How can I save you from me?

I think you've had enough experience
To differentiate between a heart of gold
And what you cradle in your gentle arms
Can you not recognize a soul already sold?
How do I save you from the things I've been?
I can't deny the past, it's written on my face
How do I save you from the mess you're in

When I can't make you leave this torturous embrace?

How do I save you?
How do I set you free?
Behind the curtain waits a darker world
If I can't make you leave
How can I save you, save you from me?
How do I set you...
How do I save you?
How do I set you free?
Behind the curtain waits a darker world
If I can't make you leave
How can I save you from me?
How do I save you?
How do I set you free?
Behind the curtain waits a darker world
If I can't make you leave
How can I save you from me?
